Thank you madame co-chair. As has been noted years ago in the Basel Technical Guidelines on the Dismantling of Ships, the beaching method of ships can never be considered environmentally sound management.

Therefore, any study undertaken by the Secretariat cannot be used to perpetuate or legitimize the beaching of ships but rather should be framed to transform the industry to move off the beaches to more controlled conditions in docking operations.

Thank you.